UNSW SYDNEY

Graduate Outcomes Report 2025

In partnership with Hyperiondev

HyperionDev

From learning new skills to building new careers

We believe education should create opportunities beyond the classroom. Our career-focused online programs combine practical learning, expert mentorship, and industry-relevant skills to help learners transition into career opportunities.

The 2025 Graduate Outcomes Report highlights the impact of these programs, showing how graduates have built new skills, secured new opportunities and progressed into new careers.

Note: Data presented in this report reflects global participant outcomes across HyperionDev programs and is not exclusive to University of New South Wales bootcamps.

Graduate success at a glance

88% | of graduates secured employment within 6 months of completing a bootcamp

Our programs support graduates beyond their course, building the skills and experience needed to launch new careers.

178% | median salary increase after completing a bootcamp

Graduates have experienced significant financial growth after developing in-demand, practical skills.

85.65% | transitioned into new career opportunities across various sectors

Our graduates are applying their skills across a wide range of careers and industries.

Building career opportunities

Graduates are launching careers across high-growth fields, including:

- Software Engineering
- Web Development
- Data Science
- Cyber Security
- Artificial Intelligence

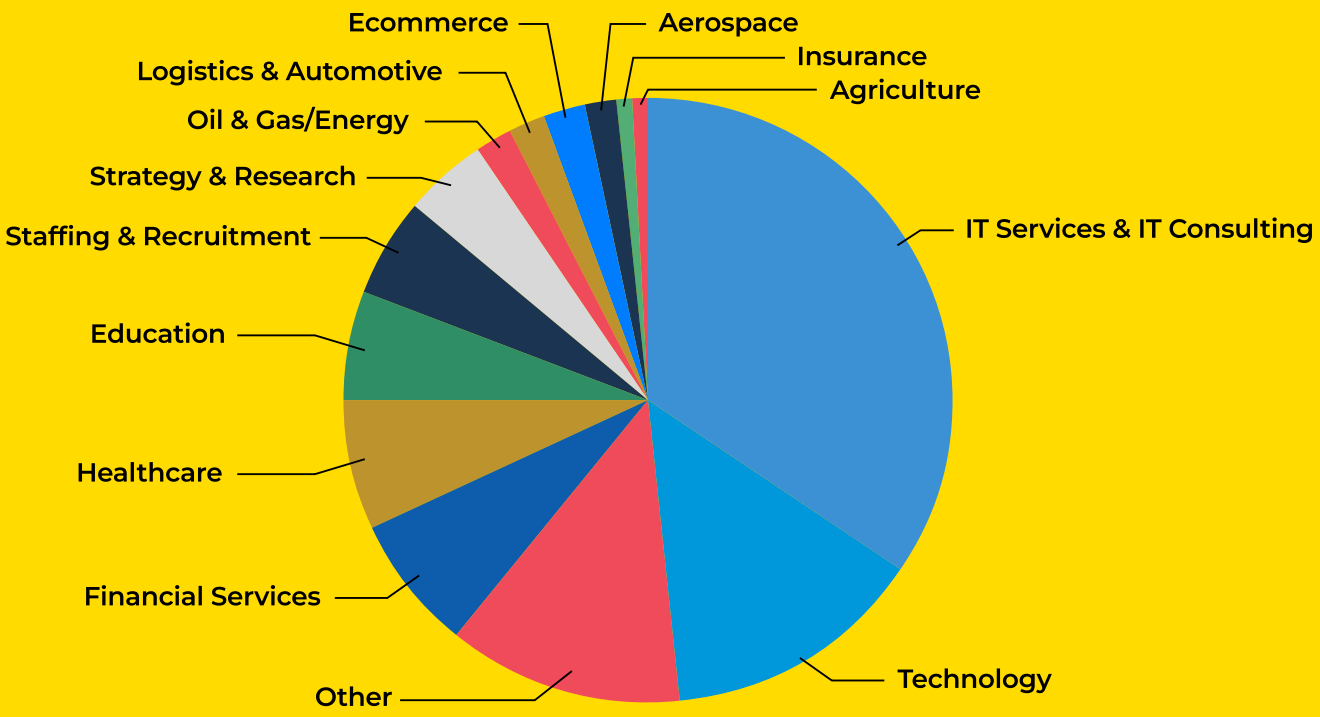

Our programs are designed around practical skills, portfolio-building projects, and hands-on learning to prepare learners for real workplace environments.

From learning to earning

Practical skills that translate into real opportunities

Graduates have progressed into roles across a variety of sectors, including technology, financial services, healthcare, education and professional services.

Many have transitioned into technology-focused roles, with software engineering and software development among common career outcomes.

Building careers with recognised employers

Our students are working at leading organisations

Bootcamp graduates have secured opportunities with globally recognised companies, including:

Employers value students who bring practical experience, problem-solving ability, and the confidence to contribute from day one.

More than a certificate

Career support beyond the bootcamp

Our commitment doesn't end when a student completes their program.

Graduates receive support through:

- Technical CV reviews
- Interview preparation
- Employer connections
- Career readiness events
- Jobs board access
- Alumni support network

Helping learners take the next step towards meaningful career opportunities.

Why University of New South Wales bootcamps?

Built for career transformation

Our courses combine:

Expert mentorship

Personalised guidance from mentors who support learners throughout their journey.

Industry-aligned learning

Practical programs designed around the skills employers need.

Real-world experience

Hands-on projects that help students build confidence and career-ready portfolios.

Ready to build skills for your future?

Explore University of New South Wales courses and discover how practical skills can help you move towards your next career opportunity.

Explore programs

Download the full HyperionDev Graduate Outcomes Report here.

Data presented in this report reflects global participant outcomes across HyperionDev programs and is not exclusive to University of New South Wales bootcamps.